Complementing healthcare services, Amrita Hospital in Faridabad includes a Medical College, Nursing College, and Allied Health Sciences College. These institutions educate and train future professionals, ensuring a well-rounded healthcare workforce through the integration of technology and interactive learning.

Amrita Hospital, Faridabad

In line with its vision of providing exceptional healthcare services to those in need, the 1,350-bed Amrita Hospital in Kochi has announced a commitment of Rs 65 crore in charitable care over the next year as part of its silver jubilee celebrations.

The healthcare institution, which already incurs an annual expenditure of Rs 40 crore for free treatment of needy patients, has pledged an additional Rs 25 crore this year to mark its 25 years since founding. This budget will cover a range of medical services, including pediatric cardiology, renal transplant, knee replacement, bone marrow transplant, pediatric liver transplant, and free fibrous scans. As part of the celebrations, Amrita Hospital will also conduct 240 free deliveries per month over the next year.

Since it's establishment in 1998, Amrita Hospital has spent over Rs.816 crore on providing free medical care to people. Out of the 1.96 crore patients treated at the hospital so far, 59 lakh patients have received either free or subsidized treatment.

Looking ahead, Amrita Hospital remains dedicated to compassionate care, technological advancements, and patient-centric healthcare. The institution plans to further expand its infrastructure to continue providing quality healthcare. As it celebrates its silver jubilee, Amrita Hospital continues to heal, inspire hope, and make a transformative impact on Indian healthcare.

Landmark Amrita Hospitals

