treasure fleets were allowed to rot and their records suppressed. Like India, China turned inward and slipped into centuries of decline. Technological superiority could not save China from the closing of the mind. For a while, it seemed that the Indian Ocean would revert to the Arabs but that was not to be. In December 1497, a small Portuguese fleet rounded the Cape of Good Hope and sailed boldly into the Indian Ocean.