

A European imagining of India's Malabar and Coromandel coasts and Ceylon as rich in trade goods, including cloths, ivory, pearls, coconuts, spices and stuffed tigers, and seemingly as much populated by Africans