as Indians. This illustration appeared in the Churchill brothers' Collection of Voyages and Travels, published in 1744, incorporating an earlier work: A True and Exact Description of the Most Celebrated East-India Coasts of Malabar and Coromandel, written by the Catholic missionary Father Philip Baldaeus of Delft in 1672. Employed by the Dutch East India Company, Baldaeus was the first European to give an account of the Mahabharata and Ramayana. He also proposed that European civilisation had its roots in India.
