the Bharhut *yaksha*s and placed it in the late second century BCE – a verdict with which I tend to agree.

The Gudimallam linga, showing in deep relief the figure of Lord Shiva as a forest-god, photographed by I. K. Sharma when the base of the statue was excavated in the 1990s.

