SOME IMPORTANT PAINTERS

Abd al-Samad: Persian miniature artist who came to Hindustan at Humayun's behest. Was made master of the mint by Akbar and oversaw the creation of the Hamzanama.

Abu'l Hasan: Son of Aqa Riza, favourite artist of Padshah Jahangir.

Aqa Riza: Persian artist. Joined Akbar's atelier, then Salim's rebel court where he was responsible for the Persianate style of the early years of Salim's patronage.

Basawan: Hindu painter in Akbar's atelier.

Daswant: Palanquin-bearer, then painter at Akbar's court. Committed suicide.

Farrukh Beg: Persian painter. First with Mirza Hakim at Kabul, then Akbar, then Bijapur, at the court of Ibrahim Adil Shah II, then with Jahangir.

Govardhan: Painter at Akbar and Jahangir's court. Distinctive palette of gold, dusty whites.

Manohar: Son of Basawan, painter at the courts of Akbar and later Jahangir.

Mansur: Painter at Akbar's and Jahangir's courts. Jahangir's favourite animalier.

Mir Sayyid Ali: Persian miniature artist who came to Hindustan at Humayun's behest.

Mohammad Sharif: Son of Abd al-Samad; sent by Akbar to Salim as an ambassador but joined Salim's rebel court.

Akbar's Marital Links with the Ataka Khail