31 August 1569: A son is born to Harkha Bai and Akbar names the child Salim. The future Padshah Jahangir.

January 1570: Akbar sets off on foot from Agra to fulfil a vow he had made to walk to the Ajmer shrine.

November 1570: Rao Kalyanmal of Bikaner and his heir, Kuar Rai Singh, are brought into the Mughal fold. The Har Raj of Jaisalmer submits to Akbar.

1571: Akbar relocates to Fatehpur Sikri.

1572: Annexation of Gujarat, the first campaign. Ahmedabad is taken without a fight from Itimad Khan Gujarati.

1572: Rana Pratap ascends the gaddi of Mewar.

23 December 1572: The mirzas are defeated at Sarnal.

January 1573: Surat is besieged by the Mughal forces. Akbar convinces the Portuguese to allow the imperial boats to use the ports for pilgrim journeys.

3 June 1573: Akbar returns to Agra after his triumphs.

23 August 1573: Second campaign to Gujarat, after Ikhtiyar ul-Mulk and Muhammad Husain Mirza besiege Mirza Aziz Koka, son of Jiji Anaga and Akbar’s foster brother, in Ahmedabad.

June 1574: The Padshah travels along the rivers Yamuna and Ganga to assist Munim Khan in defeating Daud Khan Karrani, the rebellious Sultan of Bengal.

1574: Siege of Patna. The city falls to Mughal forces and Daud Khan flees.

1575: The royal women’s hajj commences.

1575: Daud Khan surrenders after the Battle of Tukaroi.

1575: Declaration to send a caravan to hajj every year.

1576: Daud Khan Karrani is beheaded.

1576: The Battle of Gogunda or Haldighati between Rana Pratap and the forces of the Mughal Empire led by Man Singh. The Mughal army wins but the rana escapes.

1578: Jesuits from Europe, including Rudolf Aquaviva, arrive in Goa.