*Purana Qila, also known today as the Old Fort.
†A position, or rank.
*The wakil-i mutlak, or administrator, of Bairam Khan’s establishment.
*Give and Take!
*This Mongol bow was made of layers of wood and sinew, bound together using glue made from animals. The extreme recurve shape of the bow made it even more powerful than the English longbow and it is considered the most effective medieval weapon to have existed before the advent of the gun. A skilled user could fire over six shots per minute.
*Bull elephants in their annual cycle of testosterone-driven aggressive behaviour.