

EXPANSION OF DIGITAL BUSINESS IN EMERGING MARKETS

Innovation & Corporate Development Business Division engage in a diverse range of initiatives across ICT, finance, real estate, and logistics, with the aim of developing innovative business across the globe. We also promote digital transformation incorporating shifts in technological innovation, and work to expand company-wide business by delivering advanced capabilities across multiple fields.

As society continues to digitalize, there is a growing focus on the value of data and an increasing array of tools available to collect, communicate and share information. Vast quantities of data are being generated through people's daily lives. Our aim is to make effective use of this data to understand consumer needs and develop either locally or introduce global products & services catering to such consumer needs.

Digital transformation is not only happening in Consumer's daily life but also across various industry fields where a wide variety of data is generated through equipment/sensors. More and more digitally powered solutions will emerge in realizing digital transformation in each industry. By leveraging our unique capabilities as a "Sogo Shosha" and alliance with right partners, we are creating new business by integrating industrial and business knowledge of other business units with the ICT knowledge of our business unit.

Globally we have invested more than $1Bn+ across 50+ companies in the IT & communications domain and are set to expand our footprints in the emerging markets. Going forward we are adopting a twin approach of strengthening our core business as well as creation of new business by stitching through right alliances & strategic investments.

Some of our existing core business domains in the field of Media (broadcasting & Video commerce), Artificial Intelligence (AI), Contact centers/BPO, Digital Marketing, Fintech, Cyber Security & IT Services have provided us an ideal launch pad to seek next generation business which has emerged because of spread of mobile information devices (smart phones/sensors) and the evolution of IT infrastructure forming the backbone of digital transformation.

A demonstration of one such next generation business is seen through recent partnership with Sony in field of Auto Spectrum management using Dynamic Spectrum Access (DSA) technology for 5G domain. Similarly, our subsidiary, Mitsui Knowledge Industry Co. Ltd. (MKI), is driving the use of "Local 5G," an advanced scheme for implementing local 5G networks in Japan, in view of the growing need for wireless usage in industrial applications.

In Mitsui & Co's Medium-term Management Plan, "Market Asia" is identified as one of our key strategic focuses. Consumer centric business is expected to be key growth driver for Asia market as we aim to build a new pillar of business avenue and improve "Quality of life" for consumers in Asia. Our flagship partnership with CT Corp (large conglomerate in Indonesia) with aim to establish a "Consumer Ecosystem" to capture the high growth potential of the Asian consumer market is one such example of how we establish our footholds in each region of Asia market.

The emergence of India as one of the frontrunners for digital revolution is now very well recognized. As more and more global tech companies venture into Indian market, we are also encouraged to see Indian tech firms venturing out aggressively to global markets. The agility and ability to adapt to changing times is one of the key factors which is helping Indian firms differentiate amongst other global peers.

We see similar approach adopted by one of our existing portfolio company SULEKHA, which is not just well known digital marketplace for local service in India but also a well established digital platform catering to daily needs of Asian communities in US and Canada market. The company recently launched new service (called ProManage) for Enterprise brands which will act as one stop platform to manage the digital presence & online consumer engagement activities across multiple platforms for all its physical locations. In a very short time, ProManage has become the leading digital marketing SaaS platform for 40 brands across India.

By leveraging our global presence and strong local support across 63 countries and regions Mitsui & Co. has always been trusted partner to play a meaningful role in creating new business as well as expansion to global markets. Our journey for expansion in India tech business has just begun and we seek right partners to undertake this journey forward.

