be sent to India).

(f) Organising revolts among the civil population in the different parts of the country as a stepping-stone to a general mass revolution.

V. Question of Finances

Necessary finances for the above work will have to be provided by the Axis Powers. This will be in the form of a loan to the Free Indian Government established in Europe. At the end of the war, when an independent Government is set up in India, the loan will be repaid in full.

For the expenditure in Europe, payment will naturally have to be made in Marks. For the expenditure in Afghanistan, Marks can be converted into "Afghanis". For the expenditure in India, "Afghanis" can be converted into Rupees, though it is becoming somewhat difficult now. But perhaps ten Rupee notes could be printed in Europe and sent to India via Afghanistan.

VI. Military Aid for smashing British Power in India

In the explanatory note attached to this. I have referred to the military position in India. It will be clear therefrom that the British Government have a maximum force for 70,000 British troops and auxiliaries on whose loyalty they can depend. Consequently, when the Indian troops begin to revolt, the British will find it difficult to hold India with British troops alone. At that juncture, if a small force of 50,000 soldiers with full modern equipment comes to the aid of India, then the British can be wiped out of India completely. The Axis Powers should consider this important question also.
