and nobody now imagines that Great Britain can be victorious this time. Anti-War propaganda has been carried on systematically by the Indian National Congress for several years, with the result that there is no sympathy for the British Government among the Indian people. Moreover, German propaganda through the radio is now able to reach India. The cumulative effect of all these factors has been that this time it took the British Government 15 months to recruit one hundred thousand soldiers in a poverty-stricken country like India in spite of all kinds of monetary temptation. And even these men will not be loyal to the British Government! The monetary help which Britain has received from India this time is a mere fraction of what she got in 1914-18. And even this amount has been subscribed chiefly by the British industrialists in India and the Maharajas. The people's contribution has been practically nothing. During the period from September 1939 to June, 1940, I delivered at least one thousand lectures from one end of the country to the other, at which I put the question straight to the people as to whether they would like to see Great Britain defeated this time. And at every meeting they enthusiastically declared that they would like to see the Empire overthrown, so that India could be free.

VI. The Military position in India today

The attitude of the Indian people which was hostile to Great Britain at the beginning of the war has been greatly embittered as a result of the imprisonment of most of the leaders and thousands of their followers in every province in India. As there is no possibility of any change in Britain's policy in India while the war lasts, it is certain that the hatred of the people towards British domination will become deeper and deeper as the days roll by. England is thus holding India by the sword at the present time. But even from the military point of view the British position is not as strong as it appears from the outside and only a strong blow is needed to make the house of cards topple down in India.

The full strength of the Army in India, including auxiliaries like the armed police and territorials is approximately 250,000. Since the beginning of the war about 100,000 men were sent out on service abroad, i.e. to the Near East, Middle East and Far East. This deficiency was recouped by an additional recruitment of 100,000 which it took the British Government 15 months to
