

WORLD HEALTH DAY 2022

Our Planet, Our Health

Health encompasses not only bodily but also mental and social well-being. If a person possesses all three, he or she is said to be healthy. Health, according to the World Health Organization, is fundamental to human happiness and welfare. It also contributes significantly to economic advancement, since healthy people live longer and are more productive. Many dreadful diseases afflict millions of individuals all over the world. Each year, April 7 is marked as the day that celebrates good health. Every year on the day, people all across the world celebrate good health and at the same, create awareness regarding its importance.

The World Health Organization (WHO) convened the first World Health Assembly in 1948, which called for the establishment of a "World Health Day." The first World Health Day was held on April 7, 1950, and it has been observed on that date every year thereafter. The main goal of the day is to raise awareness about a certain health topic in order to highlight a World Health Organization priority area of concern.

Each year, there is a specific theme for World Health Day. The theme for World Health Day 2022 is "Our Planet, Our Health". This year's theme focuses on keeping humans and the planet healthy. It also aims to foster a movement to create a society focused on well-being. As per WHO, every year, more than 13 billion deaths occur due to avoidable environmental causes. This consists of the climate crisis, which is the single biggest threat to health facing humanity. Therefore, the climate crisis is also a health crisis.

The pandemic has taught us the importance of health, especially improving our energy and immunity levels. As the world opens up and people get back to work, they will need to get ready for two things- travelling and interacting with more people. They will also have to professionally step on the pedal to make for the lost year. Human health and well-being are intimately linked to the state of the environment. Good quality natural environments provide basic needs, in terms of clean air and water, fertile land for food production, and energy and material inputs for production. Green infrastructure also serves to regulate climate and prevents flooding. Access to green and blue spaces also provides important opportunities for recreation and supports well-being. Health depends on our ability to understand and manage the interaction between human activities and the physical and biological environment. We know this but have failed to act on it. We have the resources to meet current and future needs if we act sustainably.

At the microscopic level, every individual competes with their own self to rise to the occasion and hence will need enhanced energy levels to function at 100% . With great responsibilities, comes greater stress. No one is an exception. This is the trend of the times that we live in. For the youth population these years are supposed to be their most productive years. They cannot allow their health to hold them down when they need to be delivering at both personal as well as professional levels. Low energy and compromised immunity affect performance and could impact career growth.

To boost fitness and immunity, India has advocated Yoga and initiatives like Fitness ki Doj, and Aadha Ghanta Roj. Ayurveda is a natural, safe, time-tested and effective solution for holistic wellbeing. Lupin after its successful OTC switches of Softovac and Aptivate in the Ayurveda space has now ventured into the energy and immunity space for striving individuals with the launch of Be One. Be One is a 100% Ayurvedic supplement which compacts the power of 8 well-known ingredients like Ashwagandha, Shilajit, Shatavari and Pippali in a single vegetarian capsule. This meets the modern-day needs of energizing the mind and body healthily while promoting the wellness solutions prescribed by Ayurveda."

It is said that good Health provides better capabilities to work as per the requirements of the growing World and hence is very important. The World Health Organisation (WHO)'s foundation was laid on the principle that all humans realize their right to the highest possible level of health. The slogan of "Health for all" is more than seven decades old and works as a guiding vision.
