

SAVING UNPRIVATE RINL
RINL employees protest outside the factory; (inset) CM Jagan Reddy

A DRAMATIC TURNAROUND

VIZAG STEEL IS ON THE BLOCK BUT MAKES A DETERMINED BID TO IMPROVE ITS FINANCIALS IN THE HOPE THAT THE CENTRE RECONSIDERS ITS DECISION AND ACCEDES TO THE WISHES OF ANDHRA'S POLITICIANS AND PEOPLE

By Amarnath K. Menon

Privatisation has been a long-avowed ambition of the Narendra Modi government across two terms, expressed early on in the catchy slogan, 'minimum government, maximum governance'. That project has produced mixed results, with the government falling embarrassingly short of targets, so much so that it has considerably scaled down its disinvestment ambitions to more achievable, realistic levels this budget. But what if this very threat of privatisation spurs an enterprise to do better, breathing new life into an old argument—of selling the family silver?

This is precisely what seems to have