Finolex: Instilling Trust, Faith & Self Confidence across generations

Mr. Prakash Pralhad Chhabria is the Executive Chairman of Finolex Industries Limited (FIL), a company focused on delivering high-quality PVC pipes and fittings to housing, construction, industry and agriculture. As their Brand Ambassador Virendra Sehwag succinctly states in the commercial - ek baar lagwaiyye, aur hamara naam bhool jaiyye (install our pipes, and forget about them) - they promise dependability.

The company has been keeping this promise right from its inception, forty years ago. Mr Chhabria's father, Mr. Pralhad Parshuram Chhabria, saw opportunity in supporting farmers in ushering the green revolution. He saw the potential of connecting isolated parched pockets across India's vast landscape to the water bodies in other parts. This was the genesis of FIL. His commitment to quality at any cost saw him invest in the latest research and technology. When quality of the third party resin in his PVC pipes became the Achilles heel, he went ahead and set up a petrochemical plant at great cost to produce all the resin required by the company. This was followed by the setting up of an open sea cryogenic jetty, a first for the Indian private sector, to bring in the required raw materials in an optimal sub-zero state. All of these initiatives to uphold the standards of excellence, enhanced FIL's reputation and endeared them to farmers, plumbers, builders and home owners across India.

Mr. Prakash Chhabria
Chairman, Finolex Industries

Taking forward the baton from his father, Mr Prakash Chhabria has skillfully steered the company and its reputation by strategically restructuring the business and its finances. His stewardship has put the company on a strong growth trajectory, establishing its dominance as a reputed national brand with a turnover of INR 3,463 Crores in FY 2021.

With an equal and ambitious commitment to social issues, the company has associated itself with the Mukul Madhav Foundation since 1999. It has helped support the lives, dreams and ambitions of communities across Maharashtra, Gujarat and many other states in India. Going beyond just charity and lip-service, it has endeavored to work with the people, instilling hopes where none whatsoever existed. Through the foundation, FIL supported them to become independent and self-reliant.

Having seen the company, the products and the market evolve across the last 40 years, Mr. Chhabria says that it is difficult to predict the future path of a dynamic company like Finolex. But he is sure of one thing. In the next 40 years, whatever FIL does, the organization will always deliver quality to customers and continue to support the progress of marginalized communities.

When asked to share some advice with the next generation, he says, "There is no need to look far for opportunities, there is much to be done here in India itself. But whatever you do, do it with your heart." Some good advice that is pertinent to India Tomorrow.
