Certain materials lend themselves easily to our imaginations, offering limitless possibilities, and glass is one of them. The translucent, light-emitting material is the source of inspiration for many. It's the classic case of humble origins leading to objects of desire. After all, glass starts out as a mixture of solid sand particles. But in the hands of masters, glass and class collide with a flair. From lights, lamps and table accessories to figurines and knick-knacks, the versatile material due to its clean, elegant high-end look is increasingly being used to give homes a classy vibe. Here are three glassmakers who know how to reshape it and use it to produce showstoppers.
