THE DETERMINING FACTORS

KITTUR KARNATAKA
Typically, it's a straight fight between the BJP and Congress for the 50 seats in this region. With Veerashaiva-Lingayats being the deciding factor, both parties are trying hard to woo the community.

KALYANA KARNATAKA
Both Scheduled Castes and Tribes are in considerable numbers in this region that elects 40 legislators. The Karnataka government's recent reservation-related decisions pertaining to these groups are expected to play a significant role.

COASTAL KARNATAKA
It's a BJP bastion with 19 seats. Communal polarisation is a major factor during polls. This time, issues include the hijab row, PFI ban and scrapping of reservation for Muslims.

CENTRAL KARNATAKA
A mix of issues is likely to decide the outcome in these parts that elect 20 MLAs. Hindutva will play a big role, especially in Shivamogga and Chikkamagalur districts.

OLD MYSURU
A Vokkaliga belt, it traditionally sees a close contest between the Congress and JD(S). Now, even the BJP is pushing hard to make inroads. Accounting for 67 seats, with triangular fights in the offing on most, it remains a key region.

BENGALURU URBAN
The most populous district with the highest number of assembly seats (28), it sees a direct fight between the BJP and the Congress. Infrastructure and civic issues will be the deciding factors.
