DEEPIKA CHALASANI
NURTURING THE MIND & BODY

A single woman's determination to turnaround her hopeless health condition has turned out to be a boon to innumerable individuals and families seeking a guide and an inspiration to reclaim their lives.

DEEPIKA CHALASANI, Co-founded, Fit4Life India

Deepika Chalasani was living a life that we are very much conversant with. A hectic corporate career that took her to various parts of the globe, chasing deadlines and enhanced, superlative performance, she ended up compromising her health. The professional with 25 years' experience across multiple sectors IT-ITES, Hospitality, Retail, FMCG, Pharma, Manufacturing and Financial Services, decided to bring in the same intensity to set right her health.

Battling obesity related issues including metabolic disorders, she obstinately researched and experimented various regimens to come up with a comprehensive solution. After many failed attempts of losing weight in the 30's, Deepika was finally able to lose weight in her 40th year and sustain good health over the last decade as she had integrated her mind and body.

Deepika lost over 25 kgs and sustained it over 10 years. She belongs to the elite 1% of the world population who has lost over 20 kgs sustainably, reversing health conditions like diabetes (currently Hba1C is 5), BP, Palpitations, Knee Pains, Mood Swings, Fatigue and Psoriasis amongst others.

Deepika discovered the our limiting beliefs with respect to food, nutrition, body image etc. The very reason that we do not look at them together and consider the interplay between them, hinders our long term good health and our ability to sustain it. This realization made her pursue certifications related to mindsets, beliefs and mind-body connection, to enhance and improve her understanding of each of these.

Her parents have reversed all their health conditions and are living an active, healthy and energetic life her dad at the age of 81 and her mom at the age of 71 respectively. She thought it her responsibility to help people reclaim their lives, by sharing the wealth of practical, tested, nutrition knowledge that she had accumulated. This marked Deepika's transition from a high-profile corporate career to that of a clinical nutritionist, mind-body transformation coach.

In 2012, Deepika co-founded Fit4Life India along with her illustrious father Shri. C Subba Rao. Her company is an integrated nutrition and wellness firm that helps people globally, with their internal health as well as external appearance through scientific tools that support mind & body. She curates customized programs that focus on the client's well being in total, which includes nutrition, physical activity, sleep, and stress and helps them attain a better level of wellness. She designs the program by understanding the client's current nutritional status, health condition, lifestyle, profession, favourite foods etc and their desired outcome. She plays a vital role in helping them revisit and question their limiting belief systems, dysfunctional values, frameworks, blocks and mindsets and therefore help them change their mindset to support their health journey.

She has successfully transformed several thousand individuals and families, ranging from children to senior citizens from diverse backgrounds which include Doctors, Homemakers, Professionals, Businessmen, Junior, Mid & Senior Corporate Executives, Students, Children, people with varied sexual preferences. Her youngest client is a 2 year-old, and her oldest client is 80 years with several comorbidities including insulin dependent diabetes.

With over 2 decades of research on the unique physiological, psychological, and cultural characteristics of Indians that differ from the rest of the world, Deepika is helping her countrymen live a healthier life.
