MUGHAL HISTORY REVISIONS

CLASS 12: HISTORY

■ In Themes of Indian History-Part II, the chapters 'Kings and Chronicles' and 'Mughal Courts' (c. 16th and 17th centuries) have been deleted. The chapter included references to Mughal-era manuscripts like Akbarnama and Padshahnama, and court protocols of the Mughal rulers.

CLASS 11: HISTORY

In Themes in World History, chapters on 'The Central Islamic Lands', 'The Confrontation of Cultures' and 'The Industrial Revolution' have been removed.

CLASS 7: HISTORY

■ In Our Pasts-II, the chapter 'The Mughal Empire' has been renamed 'The Mughals (16th to 17th Century)'. A two-page chart in the chapter detailing the achievements of Mughal emperors such as Humayun, Akbar, Jahangir, Shah Jahan and Aurangzeb has been removed. A section on Akbar's policies, including the broad features of his administration, his interest in the religious and social customs of different people and how he commissioned the translation of Sanskrit works into Persian, has also gone.

■ The title of the chapter, 'The Delhi Sultans', in the same book has been changed to 'Delhi: 12th to 15th Century'.

■ Five pages discussing the independent political states of Awadh, Bengal and Hyderabad that were carved out of old Mughal provinces have been deleted from the chapter 'Eighteenth-century Political Formations'. The text on states under the control of the Rajputs, Marathas, Sikhs and Jats has been retained.

■ The title 'Sultan' has been dropped from Mahmud of Ghazni's name. The sentence, "he raided the subcontinent almost every year" has been changed to "he raided the subcontinent 17 times (1000-1025 CE) with a religious motive". This paragraph on Mahmud has been deleted: "Sultan Mahmud was also interested in finding out more about the people he conquered and entrusted a scholar named Al-Biruni to write an account of the subcontinent. This Arabic work, known as the Kitab ul-Hind, remains an important source for historians. He consulted Sanskrit scholars to prepare this account."

■ Students will no longer have to study the chapter 'Rulers and Buildings' in the same book. It focuses on the architectural style of temples built by Hindu kings and mosques, tombs and forts built by Muslim rulers.

CLASS 6: SOCIAL SCIENCE

■ A box from the chapter 'Diversity and Discrimination' in Social and Political Life—Part I, describing a common stereotype about Muslims that they are not interested in educating girls, and why this is far from the truth, has been deleted. An accompanying photo of three girls studying together has also been left out.
