IN cricket, what separates 99 from 100 is just one run. But it is the century that gets the batsman applause and a place in the record books. The psychological threshold for the Indian rupee against the dollar was 80. Never mind that when it crossed 75 to the dollar last March, it had already plumbed an all-time low. Yet, when the Indian currency first went past the 80 mark briefly on July 19, and again the day after, it had breached the high water mark and saw panic buttons being pressed across economic stations, including in government circles.

In a written statement to Parliament, Union finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on July 18 cited global factors such as the Ukraine war, the soaring crude oil prices and the worldwide financial squeeze for the fall of the rupee (79.96 on that day). Thus she absolved the Narendra Modi government of which she is a part of any blame. She also pointed out that

THE FALL AND FALL OF THE INR

THE RUPEE HAS BEEN UNDER IMMENSE PRESSURE SINCE RUSSIA'S INVASION OF UKRAINE IN FEBRUARY 2022. SINCE THEN, IT HAS LOST 6.9 PER CENT IN VALUE. FROM HOVERING BETWEEN 75 AND 77, IT BREACHED THE CRUCIAL Rs 80/$ MARK FOR THE FIRST TIME ON JULY 19
