

Photograph by Mark Edwards, copyright © Getty Images

Refugees at a makeshift camp in Bongaon, West Bengal, in June 1971, during the Bangladesh Liberation War. As many as 10 million refugees had entered India at the time within a span of just eight months.