The Heat Is On

For Sunny Leone, 2023 feels like the year of debuts. The actor just launched her first beauty line, is filming Rangeela that marks her Malayalam debut and is off to Cannes for the first time to premiere Anurag Kashyap's Kennedy

Q. What was going through your head when you realised you might be in an Anurag Kashyap movie?
When Anurag sir called me for Kennedy, he said he wanted me to come in for the film, but he actually wanted me to audition for the role. I was extremely nervous, but I told him that I had no problem with auditioning... When I got off the phone, I was so shocked and so amazed because I know what kind of a filmmaker he is.

Q. What did you learn about your own process as an actor while shooting Kennedy?
Through the process of making Kennedy, I learnt from Anurag sir the ability to let go and be as attentive as possible while doing a scene. I tried my best to be the best listener and take his advice on what he wanted out of me. The experience really felt like sweat, blood and tears. I can't wait to go to Cannes to showcase the film there.

Q. As an actor, what is the one genre of films that you wish you're offered soon?
I love dramas, I like psychological thrillers, I like period dramas a lot. So, when someone offers me a film like that, it will be amazing.

Q. What are some of the challenges of making it as a beauty entrepreneur in India?
The biggest challenge is to ensure that the quality of every product consistently lives up to a certain benchmark that you've set for yourself. That is impossible to do without a process of collaboration with the right kind of manufacturers who can help you consistently create quality products.

with Poulomi Das