

UNITING INDIA'S HERITAGE AND PROGRESS

Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav Celebrates 75 years with the Ministry of Culture's Inclusive Development

India, a nation rich in history and culture, celebrated 75 years of its glorious independence with Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav (AKAM). This momentous occasion marked a tribute to the country's journey towards progress, freedom, and unity. Under the visionary leadership of Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, the Government of India organized various events and campaigns to commemorate this historic milestone. One of the most impactful and exhaustive on-ground joint campaigns was the collaboration between the Ministry of Culture, Ministry of Rural Development, and India Today Group in 10 Major Cities across the country. With the main overarching theme of "Inclusive Development" i.e., Samaveshi Vikaas, the campaign aimed to raise awareness about critical aspects such as Plantation on Riverbanks, livestock awareness, Financial Literacy, PMAY-G, and promoting digital transactions. Covering 10 districts, 30 Gram Panchayats, a journey of 73 days, covering nearly 21 Thousand Kilometers, successfully reaching out to 35 Thousand rural residents, and engaging directly with a population of more than 12 Thousand individuals, this campaign's success has illuminated the path of progress for our nation.

INCLUSIVE DEVELOPMENT: A Holistic Approach to Empowerment

The core principle of "Inclusive Development" lies in creating an environment where every individual is empowered to contribute to the nation's progress. The joint campaign between the Ministry of Culture, Ministry of Rural Development, and India Today Group sought to achieve this through a "whole of society approach." The idea was to ensure that every section of society, from rural to urban areas, from the underprivileged to the economically privileged, is included in the nation's journey towards development. The campaign focused on targeted interventions through all States/UTs, districts, and gram panchayats. It emphasized employment generation, health, social inclusion, social security, and livelihood creation. By reaching the last mile of the population, the campaign aimed to leave no one behind in the journey towards a developed and empowered India.

Fostering Jan Bhagidari through User-friendly Mobile App

In addition to real-time progress monitoring through the website, the joint campaign also ensured documentation of Jan Bhagidari and public participation through a user-friendly mobile app named "Samaveshi Vikaas." This app provided a platform for the general public to share their experiences, opinions, and feedback along with photographs of the campaigns. It facilitated a two-way communication channel between the government and the citizens, fostering a sense of ownership and participation in the nation-building process. Let's delve into the impactful efforts and achievements of the joint campaign in different cities:

NOIDA: FINANCIAL LITERACY FOR EMPOWERING COMMUNITIES

The Financial Literacy campaign in Barola, Bhatta, and Shahdara villages of Gautam Buddha Nagar garnered overwhelming participation from more than One Thousand Five Hundred individuals. Financial experts conducted informative sessions to educate citizens living in rural areas and slums about various government schemes. The campaign aimed to empower them with crucial knowledge to make informed financial decisions. To ensure effective communication and engagement, a captivating theme-based Magic Show was organized, leaving a lasting impression on the audience.

LUCKNOW: EMPOWERING RURAL INDIA DIGITALLY

In Kakori, the digital transformation campaign witnessed enthusiastic participation from residents of Sakra Gram Panchayat, Eetwa Gram Panchayat, and Gahalwara Gram Panchayat. The campaign
