GURGAON: LIVESTOCK AWARENESS FOR SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE

The livestock awareness program in Silani, Sarmathla, and Sultanpur villages of Gurugram district showcased the government's commitment to sustainable agriculture and animal welfare. With a focus on empowering the farming community with knowledge, the campaign brought together experts and veterinarians to educate participants about proper livestock care and management. Farmers and livestock keepers were enlightened about the significance of providing a conducive environment for their animals, ensuring their well-being, and implementing sustainable livestock practices.

The program also addressed prevalent diseases affecting animals and provided essential veterinary services through a livestock medical camp. More than 100 animals were vaccinated against Foot-and-Mouth Disease (FMD) and received necessary medications, promoting animal health and productivity. The impact of the campaign was commendable, with active participation from more than One Thousand Five Hundred farmers, livestock keepers, and women livestock keepers.

ODISHA: FOSTERING ENVIRONMENTAL CONSCIOUSNESS THROUGH PLANTATION

The Plantation on Riverbanks campaign in Puri district was more than just a tree-planting initiative. It was a profound endeavor to embrace a "Green Revolution" that would rejuvenate the natural resources and protect the environment for future generations. With the rapid urbanization and industrialization in India, it had become imperative to address the environmental challenges and conserve the precious natural resources, especially water.

Water is the elixir of life, and the campaign aimed to sensitize the community about the significance of water conservation. By planting trees along the riverbanks, the campaign sought to restore the natural balance of the ecosystem, prevent soil erosion, and recharge groundwater and witnessed active participation from over 1,500 individuals. The massive outreach created a sense of unity and purpose among the participants, further amplifying the impact of the campaign.

DELHI: JAN JAGRUKTA ABHIYAN FOR COMPREHENSIVE DEVELOPMENT AND PUBLIC AWARENESS

A Public Awareness Campaign i.e., "Jan Jagrukta Abhiyan" aimed at promoting inclusive development and public participation was organized in the capital city, Delhi. Three well-organized and impactful programs were conducted as part of this campaign, each targeting different locations and audiences. The first program was organized in Rajapuri on 29th July 2023 and saw a significant turnout of enthusiastic participants, including women, men, and children, eager to learn about comprehensive housing and cleanliness. Experts present at the program provided vital information about various government schemes related to comprehensive housing, empowering the public with knowledge to improve their living conditions.

The second program, which took place in Najafgarh on 30th July 2023 focused on comprehensive development & cleanliness, garnered significant attention, with attendees actively engaging in learning about the importance of clean surroundings and its impact on their well-being. The third program was conducted in Jharoda Kalan Border on 30th July 2023 wherein experts provided valuable insights into government's various development schemes. The event's timing in the evening allowed for the participation of working individuals and students, ensuring maximum outreach and impact.

In total, the campaign witnessed active participation from more than Twelve Thousand individuals directly in various cities. It effectively communicated critical information about government schemes, environmental preservation, and digital transactions, among other essential topics. Through targeted interventions and informative sessions, the campaign successfully raised awareness, empowered communities, and fostered an inclusive and enlightened society, aligning with the vision of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav.

The joint campaign between the Ministry of Culture, Ministry of Rural Development, and India Today Group has been a resounding success in celebrating 75 years of progressive India and its rich heritage. Through the theme of "Inclusive Development," the campaign has touched the lives of thousands of individuals across different cities, fostering a sense of empowerment and ownership among the citizens.

The impactful efforts and achievements of the joint campaign have underscored the government's commitment to reaching the last mile and ensuring that no one is left behind in the journey towards a developed and empowered India. With the foundation of Jan Bhagidari and public participation, the joint campaign has laid the groundwork for a brighter and more prosperous India in the years to come. As we celebrate the 75th anniversary of our independence, the joint campaign's success is a testament to the strength and resilience of the Indian spirit, leading the nation towards a brighter and more promising future.
