INDIA QUEUES UP FOR THE WORLD CUP

At the Qatar World Cup this year, India will be represented by its football-loving fans

Speaking to us from Arunachal Pradesh's Itanagar, Oken Tayeng defines the upcoming Qatar World Cup in clear terms. For him, it is a celebration. "I grew up watching the World Cup on television, but I'd never seen the tournament live." He has tried going in the past, but "time and resources", he says, never aligned. This year though, he's heading to Qatar with five of his friends. "I turn 50 in August, and this is my way to celebrate.
