No. 1 SHRI RAM COLLEGE OF COMMERCE (SRCC), NEW DELHI

The Sum Total of Excellence

A CULTURE OF HOLISTIC AND MULTIDISCIPLINARY LEARNING HAS SEEN THE SHRI RAM COLLEGE OF COMMERCE CARVE A NICHE OF ITS OWN

By Shelly Anand

Anticipating the impact of the oncoming pandemic on education, the Staff Council of Shri Ram College of Commerce (SRCC), University of Delhi, had decided on starting online teaching-learning even before the lockdown was imposed in March 2020. In the initial months, platforms such as Zoom, Google Meet and Google Classrooms were used to hold classes. The college also used multiple applications and tools, such as Cisco Webex, Blackboard Collaborate, Facebook Live, MS-Teams, WhatsApp and YouTube, to maximise reach and engagement. MS-Teams was eventually finalised as the mode. It all goes to show how SRCC rose to the Covid challenge and took proactive measures to keep teaching-learning as seamless as possible.

Established in 1926, SRCC was amongst the progenitors of commerce education in the country, later expanding to economics and management. The college, over the years, has integrated multi-disciplinary streams of learning into courses while remaining a pre-eminent institution of commerce. The learning at SRCC is holistic, inclusive, progressive and diverse. While new programmes can only be launched as per Delhi University guidelines, the college has, in the past year or so, undertaken various initiatives to add value to its existing programmes. In collaboration with the university's Department of Germanic and Romance Studies, it started a certificate course in French language. It also collaborated with Coursera to make available free online courses by global organisations for both students and faculty.

Given the restrictions of Covid, the college encouraged its student societies to maintain the vibrancy of their activities through the online medium. Several national and
