GURUSPEAK

"MAIDS has a diversity of learning infrastructure and keeps adding to it, like its national resource centre for oral health or the upcoming exchange programme with Boston University"

DR SANGEETA TALWAR
Director, MAIDS, Delhi

or treatment," says Dr Talwar. "For this, offline training is very important. So, whenever we had the chance, we called in our students, observing all Covid protocols, so that they didn't have to miss out on this essential part of their training." MAIDS also encouraged faculty to stay academically active—many funded projects were taken on in association with the CSIR (Council of Scientific & Industrial Research), ICMR (Indian Council of Medical Research) and the department of science and technology. MAIDS faculty members, therefore, published 324 papers over the last year.

With the worst of Covid over, everybody is keen to return to the classroom. There is a lot
