KEYNOTE ADDRESS: NEP AND INDUSTRY 4.0

DR INDU SHAHANI

Founding President & Chancellor, ATLAS SkillTech University, Mumbai

"The Covid pandemic was a perfect storm for us. Education would never have embraced technology the way we did when we were hit by the pandemic. It supported students with the use of AI, advanced analytics, personalised online on-demand student support and in varying digital formats"

"When municipal school students come to our institution year after year, I ask them, 'What is it that you would like me to teach you?', or 'What kind of classes do you want?', everybody puts up their hands for robotics. Demand for technology skills is even cutting across all strata"

EDTECH REVOLUTION: SUSTAINABILITY, SCOPE AND SYNERGY

SHREYASI SINGH

Founder & CEO, Harappa Education

"Schools have opened up... yet, there are many more students today in schools and colleges who do some part of their learning online than before the pandemic"

PIYUSH NANGRU

Co- founder and COO, Sunstone Eduversity

"The pandemic forced us into online learning. Things where we would not have even trusted online learning [before] have become routine. But it also depends on the learner's segment"

HARI KRISHNAN NAIR

Co-Founder, Great Learning

"If you have a job, it is not always possible to go back to a physical institution to learn. In the upskilling industry, which we are a part of, we have definitely seen an upswing"

DR NEELIMA CHOPRA

Lead-Early Childhood Care & Development, HCL Foundation

"During the pandemic, we faced challenges in reaching out to remote areas. Technology was helpful in providing some continuity to education to these children"

SPOTLIGHT: THE IMPORTANCE OF HANDS-ON LEARNING

PROFESSOR DINESH SINGH

Chancellor, K.R. Mangalam University, and former Vice-Chancellor, University of Delhi

"As regards the NEP, I think it's a golden opportunity for India and we can use this to great advantage, one of which is setting up a knowledge economy for the nation"

"Teachers must learn to be mentors rather than those who are forever writing on blackboards. We kill our students' interest with blackboard-based teaching"
