

Too Good to Be True

a multifaceted personality

MR. SANJAY K JAIN
Managing Director, T T Ltd.

Some people are just too good to be true. They excel in their personal and professional ethos in a way that is only read and heard about. They are the flag-bearers for their generation and become examples to emulate for their offspring and progeny. Here, in discussion, we have Mr. Sanjay Kumar Jain, Managing Director, T T Ltd (listed on NSE and BSE). He is one such classic case who is blessed with a persona that an average man on the road can only dream. To begin with, he has achieved academic excellence in most of his endeavors. The most outstanding feat being a Double Gold Medalist at IIM, Ahmedabad. Other noteworthy achievements of his include being All India topper in ICWA, rank holder in Calcutta University and a qualified FCS. In his professional odysseys, he is the Past Chairman of 3 Apex Textile Associations - North India Textile Research Association (NITRA), Confederation of the Indian Textile Industry (CITI), and Textile Sector Council (TSC), the Vice-President of FOHMA/WBHA/JITO Kolkata, among other notable feats. He is currently Chairing JITO Business Network and ICC National Committee on Textiles. He has been a regular contributor to policy making at both Central and State level and holds widespread knowledge of the industry with a global perspective (has travelled to more than 60 countries).

The one hallmark aspect of his personality is that he does not stop at only giving time and tide to his work, per se. In fact, he is the author of the eclectically-written book, 'A Pinch of Salt in the Recipe Called Life'. This masterpiece of a document regales its readers with fine quotations like 'expectations are the biggest enemy of our relationships', 'life is a non-stop treadmill, you pause and you crash', and 'the best isn't always right for us, but the right thing is surely the best for us'. In this manuscript, the prolific writer tries to impart his personal accumulated wisdom.
He has made an effort to educate the masses and the classes on the essence of 'a pinch of salt' (a miniscule contributor but having transformational capabilities), i.e. common sense, in their routine living and giving situations. In addition, he does more than his bit of volunteering tasks including being a Mentor of the Global Social Business Incubation (GSBI) program of the famed Santa Clara University, USA, Atal Innovation Mission of Indian government and CIIE (IIMA). For his laudable range of work, he has been honored with citations like ET Business Leader, Udyog Ratna, Asia Pacific Entrepreneur Award, and the World HR Congress CEO Award. However, what truly gives him versatility and a touch of finesse are some of his social sensibility commitments. He is actively involved in various large social organisations like Lions International, JITO, BJS, TPF to name a few apart from T T Charitable Trust that runs a hospital apart from making regular contributions for sports promotion, education and health. He is also a qualified Reiki healer, having successfully completed the first and second levels apart from being interested in past life regression and soul healing. He firmly believes in 80:20 principle (20% time for non-business activity).
