people's interest in agriculture in Chhattisgarh. As a result, in the last three Kharif seasons, the number of registered farmers has increased continuously and the registered acreage has also gone up. With the increase in the area under cultivation of paddy, the production also soared and the arrival of paddy in the paddy procurement centers has also escalated. In this way, for the last three years, new records are being set in the procurement of paddy continuously. At the same time, the State Government is providing annual assistance of seven thousand rupees to the landless agricultural laborers and the families associated with the Pasari system through the Rajiv Gandhi Grameen Bhumiheen Krishi Mazdoor Nyay Yojana. Under the Godhan Nyay Yojana, arrangements are being made to provide shelter and fodder for stray cattle. The Yojana has also brought economic benefits to the cattle owners and farmers due to the purchase of cow dung by the State Government. Today, products made from cow dung in the Gauthans of Chhattisgarh are making their mark in the country and abroad. This model of 'Nyay' in Chhattisgarh is becoming an inspiration for other states as well.

Former RBI governor and renowned economist Dr. Raghuram Rajan, regarding the Godhan Nyay Yojana, said that it is an epitome of the bottom-up approach to bringing prosperity to the rural populace involved in agriculture. He said that through this Yojana, not only the means of agriculture and livelihood are being improved, but it is helping in reducing the use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides by using organic vermicompost made from cow dung. He further said that while maintaining the fertility of the land, the scheme can also prevent environmental damage, and global warming can also be significantly reduced.

ELIMINATION OF VIOLENCE THROUGH THE SPREAD OF EDUCATION:

A new wave of education is flowing in Chhattisgarh that has reached even the remotest parts of the state. Swami Atmanand English Medium School was started by Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel to provide quality educational opportunities to the students irrespective of their financial background. Within two years, 247 Swami Atmanand Schools are being run in the state. These State Government- run schools are at par with private schools and are equipped with modern facilities. Moreover,260 schools in remote areas that were once destroyed due to Naxal violence have been restarted with the motive of providing quality education to the students of such regions.

Bhupesh Baghel government has taken many initiatives to improve the quality of life in Chhattisgarh. By expanding the meaning of independence, an attempt has been made to make the people of the state prosperous. The government is reaching the doorsteps of the people and solving their problems immediately.

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT:

The initiative taken in the last three and a half years to empower the women of Chhattisgarh has probably never been attempted in the state before. The provision of a 50 percent reservation for women in Panchayati Raj was made in Chhattisgarh. At the same time, a provision has been made to reserve 30 percent seats for women in the recruitment for Government services. The budget for loans to women self-help groups has been increased by five percent. On the other hand, through the Mahatma Gandhi Rural Industrial Park being developed in Gauthans, many types of livelihood activities are being conducted by women, in which they are entitled to dividends. Owing to all these measures, women are getting crossing the threshold of household chores and becoming financially self-reliant.

CHHATTISGARH NO LONGER A SLAVE OF MALNUTRITION:

Malnutrition among children in Chhattisgarh was no less than a symbol of slavery and impoverishment for the future of the state. According to the data from the National Family Survey - 4, 37.7 percent of children below the age of 5 years were suffering from malnutrition. At the same time, 47 percent of women between the ages of 15 and 49 were suffering from anemia. The State Government led by Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel took it as a challenge and launched the Mukhyamantri Suposhan Abhiyan. The efforts of the State Government significantly paid off in about three years. In 2019, while 4 lakh 33 thousand children were malnourished at the commencement of the campaign, in the recent figures, two lakh 11 thousand children have come out of the cycle of malnutrition. In this way, the number of malnourished children has come down by 48 percent. Along with this, about 85 thousand women in the state have become free from anemia due to the provision of regular hot food under the scheme and nutritious food available in Anganwadis. It is worth mentioning that under this scheme, fortified rice and jaggery, which are full of iron and vitamins, are being provided in the ration for women suffering from anemia, pregnant and lactating mothers, as well as malnourished children. Apart from this, they are being given biscuits, fruits, vegetables, soya, groundnut chikki, nutritious laddus, millets, and eggs.

FREEDOM OF HEALTHY LIFE:

In Chhattisgarh, the State Government considered the prevalence of diseases as a major obstacle in the path of Nyay and development. To overcome this, a strategy was made for the expansion of health services. Despite the geographical diversity and complex conditions, health facilities were extended to remote areas of the state. Within three years, the number of medical colleges in the state has doubled. Mukhyamantri Shahari Slum Health Scheme is being run in the slums of urban areas. Under this, mobile medical units are reaching the settlements and treating the needy. This scheme is being implemented in all the urban bodies of the state. So far 34 thousand 370 camps have been organized through this scheme, in which more than 24 lakh people have been treated. Dai-Didi clinics are being run in urban areas, dedicating them to women who are unable to come to the hospital and get treatment. Health camps are also being organized from time to time as per need. So far more than 1 lakh 4 thousand 485 patients have been treated through 1405 camps. Mukhyamantri Haat-Bazaar Clinic Scheme is being operated to provide health facilities to remote rural areas. Through this scheme, 79 thousand 859 clinics have been set up in about 1839 haat-bazaars, in which 30 lakh 23 thousand 941 people have been treated so far. Through the 'Hamar Lab' scheme, the State Government is providing the facility of pathology examination. Shree Dhanwantri Generic Medicine scheme to free people from the burden of expensive medicines in the era of inflation. Under the scheme, generic medicines are being made available at cheap prices with discounts ranging from 50 to 70 percent. Shree Dhanwantri Medical Stores are offering 251 types of medicines along with 27 types of surgical items.

MALARIA FREE CAMPAIGN:

Malaria has been a major problem in Bastar. To fight this, the 'Malaria Free Bastar' campaign was started in January 2020. In the first phase, when the malaria-positive rate was 4.6 percent, it has come down to 0.21 by the sixth stage. Now expanding this campaign from Bastar to the whole state, 'Malaria free Chhattisgarh' is being successfully run in the entire Chhattisgarh.

FREEDOM FROM THE DARKNESS:

The Government led by Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel started the 'Half Bijli Bill' scheme, giving convenience to domestic consumers by cutting down electricity bills by half. So far, 41 lakh 16 thousand domestic consumers have been given a rebate of Rs 2500 crore under the above scheme.
