THE JOURNEY OF INDIA'S TOP COURT

The Supreme Court was set up on January 26, 1950. The first sitting was held on January 28, 1950.

GETTY IMAGES

SIPRA DAS

BAR CODE
A dacoity trial in progress at a local magistrate's court (top), Jan. 1947; Tis Hazari district courts in Delhi, 2008

TIME & PUNISHMENT

The judiciary remains the most trusted pillar ofIndian democracy but the pursuit of justice is often an excruciatingly slow process for the underprivileged

By Kaushik Deka

During the Independence Day celebration organised by the Supreme Court Bar Association (SCBA) this year, Union law minister Kiren Rijiju complained—albeit in a lighter vein—that he had not been invited on the same occasion in 2021. Though the association asserted that he had been invited, as is the norm, the minister said he did not receive the invite. Both sides decided not to push any further and leave the matter as "inconclusive".