

GUJARAT SETS UP GLOBAL CENTRE FOR TRADITIONAL MEDICINE

The launch of WHO Global Centre for Traditional Medicine (GCTM) at Jamnagar, which will be the world's largest centre for development of traditional medicine systems, is a reward for the continuous efforts of Government of India and Government of Gujarat that have promoted the use of traditional medicines, especially Ayurveda. The primary objective of the centre is to promote use of traditional medicines across the world. At the heart of this WHO centre will be modern science and cutting-edge technologies, which will be employed in research and development (R&D) of traditional medicines.

The foundation stone of the GCTM was laid by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the presence of Chief Minister of Gujarat Bhupendra Patel, Prime Minister of Mauritius Pravind Kumar Jugnauth and Dr. Tedros Ghebreyesus, Director-General, World Health Organization (WHO) at Jamnagar on April 19. The PM also inaugurated the Global AYUSH Investment & Innovation Summit (GAIIS) 2022 organised at Gandhinagar on April 20. The three-day summit held by Government of India in partnership with Government of Gujarat with an aim to boost investments in the AYUSH sector, brought together

"Gujarat is the leading state in the country in the field of pharmaceuticals. Through its industry-promoting policies like 'Ease of Doing Business' and Logistics Ease along with Export Preparedness, the state will play an important role in making India a hub of traditional medicine."

— Shri Bhupendra Patel, Chief Minister of Gujarat
