

find academia to be the right career choice for them. Each academic's career is unique and varies massively across job roles, specialties, universities and countries. Most roles require a PhD and scholars may start their careers in roles such as a research assistant or a research fellow. These are usually short-term roles on temporary contracts, but they provide the opportunity to earn some valuable work experience till one can secure the more competitive full-time roles of Teaching assistants or Assistant Professors. There are many compelling reasons to choose a career in academia – an opportunity to mentor young minds is a highly rewarding experience that allows you to teach and learn in a parallel way. Often teaching jobs give you quite flexibility to do specialized research and publish your works, collaboration opportunities and financial security. Besides, travel opportunities abound in academia as scholars and professors require to attend and present papers at international conferences or engage in fieldwork for an extended period of time in another country.

Students with a flair for foreign languages should get into good universities like Delhi University, Jawaharlal Nehru University, Jamia Milia Islamia University, and English and Foreign Languages Institute Hyderabad, which specialize in such courses.

GLAMOUR AND FAME: CAREERS IN FASHION, DESIGN AND JOURNALISM

A few years from today, fashion was meant for a handful of affluent, elite and sophisticated classes. But today, it is more inclusive than ever – opening up new opportunities in the fashion industry for all segments of society. Fashion is an ever-growing industry and pursuing a career in it can be exciting and rewarding. A student with a creative mind, passion for style and good designing abilities can opt for such a career option. One can join a big fashion label, a garment export house, an apparel company, or become an entrepreneur. Fashion design does offer huge career growth opportunities but a passion for the art is a must and there are no shortcuts to hard work. Networking and understanding the market is necessary to grow in this field. Some of the best fashion and design institutes are NIFT Delhi, VIFT Bangalore, Army Institute of Fashion and Design Bangalore, Pearl Academy, Delhi, Symbiosis Institute of Design Pune, National Institute of Design Ahmedabad, International Institute of Fashion Design, Navi Mumbai and Arch Academy of Design Jaipur among others. To get into these prime institutes, you need to clear their entrance exams that test as per their requirements: language ability, mathematical skills, logical reasoning, critical and creative thinking, illustration skills, colour patterns and drawing fundamentals. Designing is a field with a lot of scopes, a booming career and an emerging market for the new world order. Career options in designing range from user interface design, software design, architecture and interior design to landscape design, graphic design, scenic design, sound design, web design and accessory design. The scope is ever-expanding.

Mass Communication and Journalism has always been a sought-after career choice for students who want to bring about a change in society through print, electronic or social media. Students who are good at articulation and communication skills can do great in this field that offers opportunities in various related areas such as news media and entertainment. It is also an industry-centric cost-effective course with good placement possibilities.

FOLLOW YOUR PASSION: CAREERS IN SPORTS, PHOTOGRAPHY AND EVENT MANAGEMENT

Youngsters who are good in a certain sport may join a professional academy to train themselves better and make a career as a player. Several avenues are open to exploring in the field of sports – be it the prospect of becoming a coach and physical trainer or engaging in sports marketing, sports journalism, sports photography, injury management, sports nutrition and physiotherapy – students can take coaching in their specialized fields of interest.

If you like to see the world from behind the lens and have some understanding of frame and visual imagination that may add aesthetic value to your work, photography is a good career choice for you. Photography itself has varied specializations you may opt for – right from wild-life and adventure photography to wedding, fashion and product photography.

Event management is another excellent career for students who have good organizational abilities, good leadership skills and a sense of aesthetics. A career in event management can be specialized in any kind of gathering beginning from birthday celebrations to weddings, exhibitions, cultural programs, fashion events,

Keeping students desires into our consideration, GLA provide them with the Best Infrastructure, Best Mentors, Best Exposure and the Best Placements.

— Narayan Das Agrawal, Chancellor, GLA University