Part B:	Covers basic questions on Geography of India
Part C:	Deals with the last 20 years' (1995-2014) objective-type questions on Geography asked in the UPSCpreliminary examination
Part D:	Gives map-based questions, of which a special feature is to clearly identify and point out the geographical distribution of 'Biodiversity Hotspots'

Each set of questions is based on one topic and has 60 objective-type questions with answer key.

I express my gratitude to the authors and scientists whose works have been consulted in the formulation of questions. I sincerely thank my well wishers, students, IAS aspirants and my family members.

My special thanks to the management and staff at McGraw-Hill Education whose dedication to the craft of modern book publishing is greatly appreciated.

I wish all readers the best in all their endeavours.
