- Lake Ladoga: Europe's largest lake located in north-western Russia.
- Lake Onega: Lake Onega is a lake in the northwest European part of Russia; belongs to the basin of the Baltic Sea, Atlantic Ocean; second largest lake in Europe after Lake Ladoga.
- Lake Saimaa: Saimaa is a lake in south-eastern Finland; It is the largest lake in Finland, and the fourth largest natural freshwater lake in Europe; formed by glacial melting at the end of the Ice Age.
- Lake Vanern: Vanern is the largest lake in Sweden, the largest lake in the European Union.

3. Europe is called peninsula of peninsulas to draw attention to the fact that Europe is a relatively small, elongated appendage to Asia, and that a large part of Europe is made up of peninsulas.
4.
   - Mt. Rosa: The Dufourspitze is the highest peak of Monte Rosa, a huge ice-covered mountain massif in the Alps; located in Switzerland.
   - Mt. Kazbek: Mount Kazbegi is a dormant strato- volcano and one of the major mountains of the Caucasus located on the border of Georgia and Russian Republic of North Ossetia-Alania. i.e not in Europe.
   - Mt. Elbrus: Mount Elbrus is a dormant volcano in the Caucasus Mountains in Southern Russia, near the border with Georgia. It can be considered the highest mountain in Europe, considering that the Caucasus mountains are at the intersection of Europe and Asia.
   - Mt. Blanc: Mont Blanc is the highest mountain in the Alps and the highest in Europe. It lies in the west of the Caucasus peaks of Russia and Georgia.
5. Cape Nordkinn is the northernmost point of Norway. It is notable for being the northernmost point of mainland Norway, and by extension the northernmost point of mainland Europe.
6. The Strait of Dover or Dover Strait, historically known as the Dover Narrows, is the strait at the narrowest part of the English Channel, marking the boundary between the Channel and North Sea, separating Great Britain from continental Europe.