9

Geography of South America

DIFFICULTY LEVEL: EASY

1. Which of the following are called as Donkey's belly in Peru?
   (a) Atacama desert
   (b) Snow covered mountain peaks
   (c) Thick Fog Covered along coasts
   (d) Cumulonimbus clouds
2. Lake Titicaca is in
   (a) Peru
   (b) Bolivia
   (c) Brazil
   (d) Both (a) and (b)
3. Shallow soils consisting of imperfectly weathered rock fragments are called as
   (a) Grumosols
   (b) Planosols
   (c) Lithisols
   (d) Brunizems
4. What are Regosols?
   (a) Acidic soils with a bleached upper horizon, or layer, that are low in lime.
   (b) Deep, dark-coloured prairie soils, developed from wind-deposited loess.
   (c) Deposited by lakes, and containing much nutrient matter, but often shallow and subject to seasonal oxygen deficiency.
   (d) Azonal soils consisting mainly of imperfectly consolidated material and having a complex morphology.
5. Magellan strait is between