

20. Brazil is the fifth largest country in the world, and its coastline extends southward for 4655 statute miles from French Guiana to Uruguay on the Atlantic. From north to south, Chile extends 4270 km (2653 mi), yet is only 350 km (217 mi) at its widest point, and averages just 177 km (110 mi) east to west.
21. Venezuela, Guyana, Suriname and French Guiana are the only South American countries which lies completely above equator.
22. Amazon is said to be the second longest river after Nile.
23. Independent countries:
    Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Guyana, Paraguay, Peru, Suriname, Uruguay and Venezuela.
    List of dependent territories of South America in alphabetical order