magnitude and phasing during the season, agricultural productivity is a risky activity.

2. The supply of fertilizer, pesticide, and insecticides required for rainfed agriculture need to be ensured to raise current levels of productivity.

Answer the following:

(a) Only 1 wrong
(b) Only 2 wrong
(c) Only 1 correct
(d) Only 2 correct

66. Consider the following statements regarding watershed management:

1. A striking feature of the monsoon is that a high proportion of the annual rainfall takes place within two to three months, resulting in massive floods and run-offs.
2. The pace of building irrigation infrastructure has been slow and has constrained progress in agricultural productivity. New seed varieties and fertilizers depend upon regular and timely irrigation to yield results.

Answer the following:

(a) Only 1 correct
(b) II correct
(c) Both are correct
(d) None is correct

67. Identify the correct statement/statements given below:

1. Productivity levels in Indian agriculture vary a lot, sometimes by as much as ten times within the same district or a province, indicating uneven outreach and application of technology, expertise, or other inputs.
2. States with substantial areas under irrigation need to perform better in terms of yields and agricultural productivity. Bihar is a prime example.

Answer through the codes given below:

(a) Only 1 correct
(b) Only 2 correct
(c) Both are wrong
(d) Both are correct