(c) Both are correct
(d) Both are wrong

71. Choose the statements regarding agriculture:
    1. Agriculture is practised under multiple combinations of physical and socio-economic conditions, which gives rise to different types of agricultural systems.
    2. Subsistence agriculture is one in which the farming areas consume all, or nearly so, of the products locally grown.

    Answer the following through the codes:
    (a) Only 1 correct (b) Only 2 correct
    (c) Both are correct (d) Both are wrong
72. Consider the following statements whether right or wrong:
    1. Intensive subsistence agriculture dominated by wet paddy cultivation: This type of agriculture is characterised by dominance of the rice crop.
    2. Intensive subsidence agriculture dominated by crops other than paddy. Due to the difference in relief, climate, soil and some of the other geographical factors, it is not practical to grow paddy in many parts of monsoon Asia.

    Answer the following codes:
    (a) Only 1 correct
    (b) Only 2 correct
    (c) Both 1 wrong
    (d) Both are correct
73. Identify the following statements regarding agricultural issues:
    1. Plantation agriculture was introduced by the Europeans in colonies situated in the tropics.
    2. The French established cocoa and coffee plantations in west Africa. The British set up large tea gardens in India and Sri Lanka, rubber plantations in Malaysia and sugarcane and banana plantations in West Indies.

    Choose the correct answer through the codes:
    (a) Both are correct
    (b) Only 1 correct
    (c) Only 2 correct
    (d) Both are wrong
74. Identify the following statements whether correct or wrong: