gap as well as improving efficiency in infrastructure service delivery. As per the Private Participation in Infrastructure database of World Bank, India is ranked second among developing countries both by the number of PPP Projects as well as the associated investments.

Statement II: CORRECT—Indian private participation in infrastructure program supports a number of PPP models including management contracts, BuildOperate-Transfer (BOT) contracts, DesignBuild-Finance-Operate-Transfer contracts, Rehabilitate-Operate-Transfer, Hybrid Annuity Model, and Toll-Operate-Transfer model.

Under the BOT model, there are two variants - BOT (Toll) and BOT (Annuity) depending on who bears the traffic risk. In the case of BOT (Toll), the traffic risk is borne by the PPP concessionaire while in the case of BOT (Annuity), it is borne by the Government (Public Authority).

10. Statement I: CORRECT—In a fast moving world to maintain growth momentum, India has to develop its industry and infrastructure. As an emerging economy, the scope for Industry 4.0 and Next generation infrastructure are enormous. To experience the potential of the perfect blend of Industry 4.0 and next generation infrastructure, it is necessary to clear the decks which are obstructing the way forward.

Industry 4.0 encompasses automation in industrial sectors whereas next generation infrastructure brings physical infrastructure and technology like internet of things, automation together to maximise the efficiency of physical infrastructure. For a smooth and fast travelling, India needs adequate and timely investment in quality infrastructure.

Statement II: CORRECT—In order to create a ten trillion dollar economy by 2032, India needs a robust and resilient infrastructure. Public investment cannot fund the entire infrastructure investment requirements of the country. Further, private players are usually eager to bring their capital into developed Indian states as compared to less developed states.

Therefore, the real challenge lies in bringing adequate private investment across the country with the collaboration of public
