   - The Central government launched the Initiative for Nutritional Security through Intensive Millet Promotion (INSIMP) in 2011-12 to promote millets as “nutri-cereals”. The scheme aims to catalyse increased production of millets in the country.
   - A key feature of INSIMP is giving input kits, comprising urea and pesticides; costing ` 2000-3000 depending on the type of crop; and seed kits, comprising hybrid seeds to the farmers. These kits do not include micro irrigation equipment.
   - Millets have low productivity in general and are cultivated by poor tribal farmers in remote interior areas. Hence, any scheme promoting millets would have more impact on poor, small marginal and tribal farmers.
