eligible for 25 thousand rupees. Under the new MSME policy, the state government has opted to exclude the service sector. This means that investments in areas such as hotels, adventure sports, ropeways, and nursing homes will not receive subsidies through this policy. To address this, the government intends to introduce a distinct policy specifically targeting the service sector.

INCREASED FOCUS ON INVESTMENT

The easier it is for investors to find land, the faster they will be drawn to invest. Keeping this in mind, the Dhami government has streamlined the process of developing the private industrial sector in Uttarakhand. This year, the government implemented the private industrial sector policy to provide land for new industries in the state. By amending this, the government has simplified and made more industry-friendly the process of notifying permission and developing an industrial area on private land.

The process of obtaining permission in two stages for the private industrial sector has been eliminated by amending the policy. Builders and private investors will now receive approval through a single window. Aside from that, if there is a shortage of land for the industrial sector, the government will acquire and give 20% of the land.

Through a single window system, permission will now be granted to create a private industrial area. Along with this, the industrial area will be notified. If 80 percent of the land has become available for the industrial area to the builders or investors, but 20 percent of the land is not available, then the government will acquire and give 20 percent of the land through the District Magistrate. For this, a bank guarantee equivalent to the land value will be taken from the investor. In the policy, a condition of 30 acres of land has been kept for setting up an industrial area on private land in the plains. 70 percent of the income received from the sale of plots to industries in the private industrial sector will have to be deposited in the ESCO account operated through SIDCUL. This amount will be spent on infrastructure development in the industrial area. In Uttarakhand, a new Logistics Policy-2023 has also been introduced, incorporating the suggestions of industrialists for rapid industrial development.
