INDIA@100

COMMUNICATIONS

THE NEW MATRIX

The interplay of humans, machines and data in the wireless communications technologies of the future will change life as we know it. The satellite internet is already emerging as an alternative for communication and broadband services even in the remotest areas. And there will be no potential spectrum crunch if Light Fidelity (LiFi), which harnesses the power of LED light to transmit data, holds up to its promise

By AMARNATH K. MENON

Photo Montage by BANDEEP SINGH