

RECOMMENDED BY

Manisha Bhasin
Corporate chef, ITC

Healthy Fats Thali

1. Beans poriyal
2. Anda curry
3. Mewa pulao
4. Alsi badaam parantha in desi ghee
5. Fried surmai
6. Banana chips in coconut oil
7. Whole milk chhachh
8. Akron halwa
9. Desi ghee
10. Cold-pressed coconut oil

"Fruits are high in vitamins, minerals and soluble fibre. We recommend fruits even for diabetics. The trick is moderation"

RITIKA SAMADDAR
Nutritionist, Max Super Speciality Hospital, Delhi

fastest-growing health food market, expanding at a CAGR of 20 per cent, with the segment expected to attain the size of $30 billion (Rs 2.5 lakh crore) by 2026. Meanwhile, the number of health-conscious consumers is expected to rise to 176 million in 2026 from 108 million in 2020. This has not only spurred the demand for healthy foods, but has also led to a mushrooming of healthy food services such as Food Darzee, EatFit, ParaFit, Nutri91 and Nutriobox, among others, which promise to deliver healthy meals to customers desperate