MAYAWATI: HEIR (HALF) APPARENT PG 9

KERALA: PINARAYI GETS ON THE BUS PG 12

UPFRONT

BENGAL: CLASH OF TEMPLE BELLS PG 10

GUJARAT: THE DONKEYS ARE VANISHING PG 14

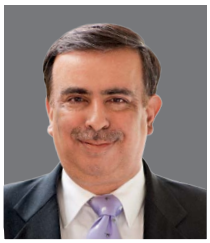

HEART OF TOWN
The bustling Lal Chowk in central Srinagar

ANI

GUEST COLUMN / JAMMU & KASHMIR

BEYOND ARTICLE 370

For over 70 years, Article 370 of the Indian Constitution was seen as almost an article of faith by a section of the people of Jammu and Kashmir. A tiny part of a huge Constitution that had, as if, ingrained itself into the collective psyche of a people. While through the decades, Article 370, and the so-called special status that it had given J&K, had lost much of its import, the Supreme Court of India, through its December 11 judgment (in which it upheld the abrogation of the article in August 2019), has finally brought matters to a legal closure.

AMITABH MATTOO

The real challenge now is to bring matters to a political closure to give all the stakeholders a real interest in sustainable, sustained and shared peace. There are five steps that can and must be taken so that the foundations of a truly Naya Jammu and Kashmir can be built, even while Article 370 has almost permanently been