The incredible diversity in multicultural art forms is a testament to India's rich cultural heritage. However, many of these indigenous arts haven't received the recognition they deserve. It is with this thought that the Serendipity Arts Foundation launched South Asia's biggest international multicultural festival, the Serendipity Arts Festival, in 2016 to celebrate myriad art forms and creative ideas.

Currently in its sixth edition, the annual festival will be held from December 15 to 23 in Panjim, Goa, across multiple venues like the Old GMC Complex, the Art Park, and Nagalli Hills Ground, among others. This year, the Serendipity Arts Festival will offer South Asian artists a platform to amplify their voices alongside building a community where young minds can engage, ideate and co-create.

"While each edition brings in a new flavour, our focus on inclusivity and sustainability continues to take centre stage. The festival in 2023 will feature independent and collaborative projects, while retaining

MYSTIC MEDLEY

FESTIVAL

The seventh edition of the Mahindra Kabira Festival is set to enthral music lovers in Varanasi this month

The city "older than history" has stood witness to changing times, yet despite the centuries, Kabir's influence still prevails today.

Organised by the Mahindra Group and Teamwork Arts, the seventh edition of the Mahindra Kabira Festival—to be held from December 15 to 17—celebrates the mystic-poet in the city of his birth through music, discourse, heritage walks, and literature on the history-soaked ghats of Varanasi.

"The timeless poetry of Kabir in the timeless city presented on the timeless ghats...these were the words
