"AIIMS is always adapting to stay relevant. That includes training students in technology, communication, ethics and telemedicine. We instil a spirit of inquiry and research" pandemic has shown new ways in which technology can be leveraged to support patients and doctors," says Dr Guleria.

DR RANDEEP GULERIA, DIRECTOR, AIIMS

Research opportunities have also flourished. The Clinical Research Unit has been set up to provide support, funding and opportunities to budding researchers here. In the past year, over 900 peer-reviewed papers were published on the Covid-19 virus alone by AIIMS. The vibrant research culture is one that many former alumni still recall. "AIIMS taught me many things, but what distinguished it from others was the
