In the latest monsoon session of Parliament, 24 Opposition MPs—20 from the Rajya Sabha and four from the Lok Sabha—were suspended for unruly behaviour. Such disruptions, according to Rajya Sabha sources, have cost Rs 133 crore and caused a wastage of 89 hours. While 37.7 per cent of MOTN respondents blame the Opposition, 33.3 per cent believe the fault lies in the ruling party trying to enact laws without discussion. Only 17 per cent hold both sides responsible for the frequent disruptions that led to the session ending four days before schedule and only five bills being passed.
