

and determination and Hero MotoCorp is offering an opportunity to a lucky few off-road enthusiasts to live the dream and make their own stories with the Hero Dirt Biking Challenge (HDBC). This new reality series will be telecast on the MTV channel and streamed online on Voot in November 2022.

The HDBC is a pan-India event as it will reach as many as 45 cities, giving opportunities to passionate riders across India to find the country's off-road riding champion. Post the screening of the initial applications, the shortlisted participants will then be part of the regional rounds, to be held in 18 cities. The top 100 riders will attend a five-day regional boot camp for technical training where they get the golden opportunity to learn from the Hero MotoSports Team Rally riders Ross Branch, Joaquim Rodrigues, Sebastian Buhler, Franco Caimi and ace Indian Dakar Rally star CS Santosh. In a short span of time, the team has become one of the world's premier two-wheeler rally teams and is the only Indian team ever to win a stage at the coveted Dakar Rally. A race will be held after the boot camp, from which the top 20 will move to Hero MotoCorp's Center of Innovation of Technology, a state-of-the-art Research and Development center in Jaipur, Rajasthan. Here the riders will be trained and mentored by the Hero MotoSports Team Rally. A final race will decide the ultimate winner who gets to call a new Hero MotoCorp Xpulse 200 4V their own while also receiving a sponsorship contract from Hero MotoCorp worth Rs 20 lakh.

The company has recently launched the Xpulse 200 4V Rally Edition in India to cater to the growing demand for off-road specific motorcycles. The Rally Edition adds on a dedicated factory kit that includes robust 21in front and 18in rear spoke wheels fitted with dual purpose tyres, aluminium skid plate that protects the engine, toothed brake pedal for maximum grip and control, and an upswept exhaust that enables deep water crossing. Enhanced suspension set-up and increased ground clearance are exclusive to the Rally Edition while the Rally Code graphics are inspired by Hero MotoSports Rally Bike and a special detail being the eponymous "CS Santhosh" autograph signaling the roots of Hero MotoSports.
