Thus ended the Al-Hilal after a brief existence of two years. Azad thereupon brought out another weekly, the Al-Balagh, but this, too, ended in 1916 when Azad was interned by the British Government. For nearly four years he was kept in internment, and when he came out at last he took his place immediately among the leaders of the National Congress. Ever since then he has been continuously in the highest Congress Executive, looked upon, in spite of his youthful years, as one of the elders of the Congress, whose advice both in national and political matters as well as in regard to the communal and minority questions is highly valued. Twice he had been Congress president, and repeatedly he has spent long terms in prison.

The other weekly that was started in 1912, some months before the Al-Hilal was The Comrade. This was in English and it influenced especially the younger English-educated generation of Moslems. It was edited by Maulana Mohammad Ali, who was an odd mixture of Islamic tradition and an Oxford education. He began
