TRIUMPH SPEED 400

It's among the first two products that the Bajaj-Triumph partnership has spawned, the other being the Scramber 400 X. Triumph has kitted the Speed 400 with 17-inch wheels wrapped in MRF Steel Brace rubber. It gets a 43mm big-piston fork, a mono-shock and 300mm/230mm front/rear discs for braking. The modern style is quite apparent with the finned cylinder head, traditional exhaust header clamps and upswept silencer. The electronic suite includes ride-by-wire throttle, switchable traction control, dual-channel ABS, and completely LED lighting.

HONDA SP160

Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India's third 160 cc model after the Unicorn and X-Blade, the SP160 not only looks handsome but also comes loaded with features, be it the LED head and tail lamps, telescopic suspension at the front, monoshock at the rear, 17-inch alloy wheels or the fully-digital instrument cluster. The tank, with a capacity of 12 litres, adds more character while the under cowl augments the bike's sporty look.
